Windows Embedded Devices

Last Modified on 08.18.25

You can control the installation behaviour on Windows Embedded devices on the Deployments > Advanced tab. By default, the Commit changes at a deadline option is set to No.

- When set to Yes, changes are committed at the installation deadline. A restart is required and the changes persist on the device.
- When set to No, changes are committed during a maintenance window. The application installs to the temporary overlay, and is committed at a later time.
