

Options are visible when they should not be

Last Modified on 2026-06-04

Because device-based filters configured at the context level can take longer to apply, options that should not be visible can be visible, although the access policy is applied correctly.

Workaround

To update the interface, refresh the page.
