Recast

Connectors Overview

Last Modified on 2026-11-05

A connector is only used when importing and updating resources. There is no need for a high-availability infrastructure, such as multiple Application Workspace Satellite Servers.

Removing a connector does not affect resources already imported into Application Workspace.