Recast

Connectors Overview

Last Modified on 2026-09-24

A connector is only used when importing and updating resources. There is no need for a high-availability infrastructure, such as multiple Application Workspace Satellite Servers.

When you remove a connector, resources already imported in Application Workspace are not affected.